ABOUT US

Dear friends & well-wishers of Gujarat Synod Christian Alliance Education Trust. Year 2019 has been a great year for Gujarat Synod Christian Alliance Education Trust.

We thank all our volunteers, donors, students and parents for helping us to make it so. We would like specially thank all our donors who have helped us. Here we present some excellent feedback from our students about the benefits and effectiveness of the initiative.

Gujarat Synod Christian Alliance Education Trust is running the Government granted minority school of Gujarati Medium. We provide primary education for free to the weaker section of society established on 29th April, 1979.

The time after the lockdown went through a lot of difficult situations, but God took care of every situation. Donation that we use to receive was stopped. No fund was available in our organization. The school was going on with the on-line classes, new arrangements were to be made, even in such a difficult time with the help of all the committee members and fellow friends, the school could start again. Our teachers were able to teach online and then off-line.

Giving Good School and Education Program

Everyone speaks about education and its importance for underprivileged children.

By giving good education to these children

We will not only help them but also can secure the lives of their parents and their future, those parents who are not capable enough to give education and a brighter life to their children.

1. Education is the most powerful weapon

Education is often referred as the great equalizer: It can open the door for jobs, resources, and skills that a family needs not just to survive, but to thrive. Access to high-quality primary education and supporting child well-being is a globally recognized solution to the cycle of poverty by giving good education to these children

2. Good education make great people

We will not only help them but also can secure the living of their parents and their future, those parents who are not capable enough to give education and a brighter life to their children. There are ample reasons as to why they need education and how it is important for them. It will help them to improve themselves and learn new things, find good opportunities, become a good human being and lead a respectable life in the society with their head high.

The more education these children will acquire, the higher is the chance to create a good life for their family

Computer Training Program

There are so many parents who want their children to learn computer.

Which is why so many computer classes for kids are popping up either online or at learning centers like The DAE; that teach a variety of STREAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, & Math) concepts. More importantly, these programs are an opportunity for like-minded individuals to come together over mutual interests.

The best part: kids love learning when what they're being taught is presented as fun.

Woman Awareness Program

A woman's path to an education can sometimes be difficult, as they often juggles work with multitude of responsibilities. Financial setbacks often cause women to drop out of class or quit school completely. Through the Women Helping Women program, the Abhishek Foundation's Women's Council is helping students overcome emergencies related to food shortages, transportation, child care, technology, and utilities so they can continue with their education.

National festival

Undoubtedly, Diwali or Deepavali is the most spectacular festival celebrated in the Indian subcontinent. Autumn heralds in this Hindu festival of lights that is celebrated across the length and breadth of the country. The celebrations are marked by people decorating their homes with candles, earthen lamps, and lights, bursting crackers, and exchanging gifts and sweets with friends and family. Since it is celebrated on a new moon night, these sparkling lamps and lights add a magical feel to the whole scenario.

A festival that commemorates Lord Rama's return with his wife after 14 years of exile and his triumph over Ravana, Diwali symbolizes the ultimate victory of good over evil.

National Festival

India is a multicultural and diverse country, and the National festivals in India are celebrated as a whole country. On the national festivals, we commemorate the milestones of India's history. It is an occasion celebrated irrespective of the diverse culture. It is a day the country reminiscence the sacrifices of our freedom fighters and great leaders during India's struggle for Freedom. There are three National Festivals of India -Republic Day, Independence Day, and Gandhi Jayanti

Tree Plantation

Nutrition Given to School children

With no access to schools and education, children are faced with severe problems like child labor and child marriage, the latter being a common feat among girls. This is why child education until the age of 18 is very important.

Save the Children, India, is an independent child rights NGO that works in Gujarat states.

Beginning its journey in Gujarat, it claims to have impacted the lives of more than millions children.

ANNUAL REPORT 2018-2019

Origami is the art of paper-folding. Its name derives from Japan's words ori ("folding") and kami ("paper"). Traditional origami consists of folding a single sheet of square paper (often with colored side) into a sculpture without cutting, taping, or even marking it.

Gujarat Synod Christian Alliance Education Trust also uses Origami for Children coming from the weaker section of society by providing free education and hostel facility.
